NEWS RELEASE: Monday 21 May 2018

Hay Festival and the British Library announce free streaming day for Living Knowledge Network

Hay Festival Wales (24 May-3 June) events will be streamed live to public libraries for the first time thanks to a new collaboration with the British Library's Living Knowledge Network.

On Saturday 26 May, from 10am to 5pm, seven library authorities in the British Library's Living Knowledge Network, plus the British Library itself, will offer live streams of Hay Festival sessions for adults and children, including conversations with David Walliams, Cressida Cowell, Laura Bates and Owen Sheers, Melvyn Bragg, Tessa Dunlop, Melvyn Bragg, Andy Stanton, David Almond, Eoin Colfer, Bettany Hughes and the International Man Booker Prize winner.

The Living Knowledge Network is a nationwide partnership between the British Library and 22 major libraries in cities and towns across the UK. The Network combines local expertise and national organising power to share knowledge, resources and activities. At the heart of the Living Knowledge Network is a simple aspiration- to create value by sharing ideas and sparking connections between libraries, collections and people across the UK.

The new partnership follows last year's announcement that the Hay Festival had donated its entire audio and video archive to The British Library to mark the festival's 30th anniversary.

Ella Snell, Living Knowledge Network Manager, said: "The British Library is delighted that eight library authorities are screening talks from the 2018 Hay Festival through the Living Knowledge Network. This is a fantastic example of how we are working in partnership to bring knowledge alive."

Featuring over 600 of the world's greatest writers, global policy makers, pioneers and innovators in 800 events across 11 days, the Festival showcases the latest ideas in the arts, sciences and current affairs, alongside a rich schedule of music, comedy and entertainment for all ages. A galaxy of literary stars gathers to launch new work, while the biggest ever HAYDAYS and #HAYYA programmes give young readers the opportunity to meet their heroes and get creative.

Explore the 2018 programme and book tickets at hayfestival.org or call 01497 822 629.

The Festival site is free to enter, with ticketed events in 10 tented venues, plus a range of sites to explore, including the Festival Bookshop; the HAYDAYS courtyard; the Hay Festival Wild Garden; creative workshops in the Make and Take Tent, the Scribblers Hut, The Cube and the Mess Tent; and market stalls, cafés and restaurants.

In an age increasingly characterised by abbreviated content and algorithmic recommendation, Hay Festival promotes serendipitous discovery through the long-form, immersive experience, offering a platform for informed conversation and the chance for inspiration to take hold.

About Hay Festival

www.hayfestival.org

Hay Festival brings readers and writers together to share stories and ideas in sustainable events around the world. The festivals inspire, examine and entertain, inviting participants to imagine the world as it is and as it might be.

Nobel Prize-winners and novelists, scientists and politicians, historians and musicians talk with audiences in a dynamic exchange of ideas. The Festival's global conversation shares the latest thinking in the arts and sciences with curious audiences live, in print and online. Hay Festival also runs wide programmes of education work supporting coming generations of writers and culturally hungry audiences of all ages.

In 1987, the festival was dreamt up around a kitchen table in Hay. Thirty-one years later, the unique marriage of exacting conversations and entertainment for all ages has travelled to editions in 30 locations, from the historic town of Cartagena in Colombia to the heart of cities in Peru, Mexico, Spain and Denmark. The organisation now reaches a global audience of hundreds of thousands every year and continues to grow and innovate, building partnerships and initiatives alongside some of the leading bodies in arts and the media, including the BBC, Welsh Government Department of Education, Visit Wales, ACW, the British Council, Oxfam, TATA, Friends of Hay Festival, Baillie Gifford, Good Energy, NERC and the National Trust.

Acclaimed author, actor and writer Stephen Fry is President of the organisation; Peter Florence is Director; and Caroline Michel, CEO of leading literary and talent agency Peters Fraser + Dunlop, is Chair of the Festival board.
